

FIVE ENEMIES OF QUESTIONING

DR WHO

TIME

THE INQUIRY
Student Centred

TIME

Time or the lack of it.

We are constantly under pressure to make quick decision and render snap judgements and to do, do, do without asking why or what we are doing. Little time in live has been allotted for Inquiry, contemplation, or critical thinking.

Time is needed to be taken to inquiry and contemplate. Question are formulated through time and opportunity. Without time we do nothing but scratch the surface.

With the rush to do more it can be more efficient to slow down, as rushed decisions can send us down the wrong path. Always ask why we are doing things and why are we doing things that way.

Steve Jobs